mediaBrilliance digitalxstudio is an independent design and development studio focused on building clear, functional, and thoughtfully designed digital experiences. we work with individuals, small businesses, nonprofits, and creative projects.

- web design:
custom website design focused on usability, accessibility, and visual clarity. every design is responsive and tailored to your brand, never generic templates.
- web development:
clean, efficient front-end development using modern web standards. sites are optimized for performance, mobile devices, and long-term maintainability
- CMS & site management: setup and customization of content management systems so you can update your site easily. includes guidance on best practices and long-term site care.
- brand & UX support:
design support beyond the website. including layout systems, typography guidance, and user experience improvements that make your content easier to understand and use.
- digital strategy:
one on one strategy sessions to help you define your digital goals and create a roadmap for achieving them.
